Ms. Rebecca Morgan currently serves as the National Counterintelligence and Security Center (NCSC) Deputy Assistant Director for Enterprise Threat Mitigation and as the Deputy Director of the National Insider Threat Task Force (NITTF). The Enterprise Threat Mitigation Directorate (ETD) executes Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI) responsibilities to serve the US Government and public and private sector partners, providing governance and advocacy to promote active integrated mission practices that counter adversarial and insider threats to public health and safety, economic security, and the national security of the United States.

ETD executes ODNI authorities for unauthorized disclosures within the intelligence community, serves as the mission manager for the National Operations Security Program and the National Insider Threat Task Force, and promotes a defensive counterintelligence (CI) posture among federal, public, and private sector stakeholders. Housed within the NCSC, the NITTF is an interagency task force co-chaired by the Office of the Director of National Intelligence and the Department of Justice.

Ms. Morgan has over three decades of experience in counterintelligence, security, and insider threat including investigations, operations, and analysis. Ms. Morgan recently served as the Chief, Insider Threat Division, at the Defense Counterintelligence and Security Agency, Center for Development of Security Excellence.

Ms. Morgan previously served as a Special Agent and Counterintelligence Specialist with the Defense Security Service, as an Intelligence Operations Specialist with the DoD Counterintelligence Field Activity, and as the Senior Intelligence Advisor to the Foreign Supplier Assessment Center. As an instructor at the Joint Counterintelligence Training Academy, she developed training programs for a variety of defense and intelligence agency personnel. She has also conducted counterintelligence, security, and cyber assessments for private industry. Prior to government service, Ms. Morgan was a licensed private investigator and paralegal.

Ms. Morgan holds an MA in Forensic Corporate Espionage Investigation from The George Washington University and a BA in Criminal Justice and Sociology from Northeastern Illinois University. Ms. Morgan is certified as adjunct faculty at the DCSA Academy, the University of Maryland Baltimore County Technology Center, and holds instructor certifications with both NSA and DIA.

Her dedication to duty and ability to innovate have resulted in numerous performance awards and accolades: CI Educator of the Year by the Director of National Intelligence (2014, 2016, 2017, 2018, 2020); the DIA CI and HUMINT Trainer of the year (2014, 2015, 2018); DoD "Unsung Hero" by Secretary of Defense William Cohen (2000); and recognized by Security Magazine as one of "The Most Influential People in Security 2020." She holds SAPPC, SFPC, CINT-F, CINT-A, and DoD Forensic Media Examiner certifications.
